RE: Safety Achievements for 2006

Dear Mr. Witte,

On behalf of PROSAFE Solutions, I would like to express our continued appreciation for the opportunity to work with a homebuilder of the caliber of Morrison Homes.

In comparison to other residential builders, Morrison Homes stands out as a leader in construction safety in the U.S. homebuilding industry.

Over the past few years we have had the pleasure of assisting Morrison Homes with development of its safety program and assisting with efforts to continue improving safety performance. I would like to take this opportunity to outline a few successes achieved so far this year.

- The Tampa Division instituted a full time Safety Director position filled by Dana Pasquis. She previously held another position at the Tampa office and had already developed positive relationships with the builders and subcontractors.

Since filling the position of Safety Director she has persuaded two of the major framers to utilize conventional fall protection through the use of Wall Walker scaffold systems. While working with the masonry contractors to reduce silica exposures, she developed a portable wet saw consisting of backpack bug sprayers for water supply. This has drastically reduced silica exposures in the communities. Dana has also been a speaker and serves as a member of the local residential builder safety alliance.

- Houston, Austin and Denver are currently exceeding OSHA requirements in utilizing conventional fall protection for roofing work through use of fall anchors and rope grab systems.

- The California Divisions pioneered the use of conventional fall protection for residential construction at Morrison Homes and continue to excel in their efforts in fall protection and other areas of safety.
- The Tampa and Central Valley Divisions both recently received inspections by OSHA, which resulted in no citations being issued. OSHA visited another builder in a Tampa community several times and never visited Morrison Homes due to the fact that Morrison Homes' employees were wearing hard hats and using fall protection.

In addition to these recent achievements, Morrison Homes continues to reemphasize safety as a core value through its annual safety training, division and third party safety audits, and annual safety awards.

We appreciate the strong degree of commitment to safety exhibited by corporate and division leadership. We look forward to our continued relationship with Morrison Homes in its efforts to continuously improve its safety process.

Sincerely,

Mike McCarroll, CSP
